

Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida!

January 24-28, 2022

District: Marion

Sampling of various activities planned throughout the week

CELEBRATE LITERACY WEEK · 2022	planned throughout the week
Monday, January 24 th	 Students challenged to 22 minutes of reading daily during 2022 Students dress up as an alien or astronaut to kick off "Launching of Literacy" Admin to read pages from If You Decided to Go to The Moon Magic School Bus Monday (Dress up as favorite science fictions character from a book Celebrity Reader on the Morning Show Door decorating contest launch Teachers Read Aloud Poem: "Space Counting Rhyme" or "I Opened a Book" Students create their own bookmark illustrating a space theme or a new world created by them.
Tuesday, January 25 th	 All teachers will read their favorite children's book to their students about space adventure or space travel. Launch into Literacy through the World of Art Read/watch Moonshot: The Flight of Apollo 11 by Brian Floca and have students create a postcard to send to their parents or favorite person. Prompt: If I lived in space "Take Off Tuesday" reading one book about space. Books available in the media center, classroom libraries, and on myON. Theme: Read Big – Wear a shirt with encouraging words and encourage others to read your shirt. Giveaway Tuesday: Teachers will receive a free book to read with their class Where are the students going? – Students will choose from two writing prompts: What would you pack if you were an astronaut? Or What would you do if you spotted an alien at school? In classes teachers guide students in creating a Word Cloud, Wordle, or Infinity poem sharing ways they use math literacy in solving problems.
Wednesday, January 26 th	 Bring a reading buddy from home Book Walk Wednesday - Large books will be displayed throughout school. Career Day at school - students select a career of their choice and read about it using myON or books provided in the classroom or at home. Character dress up day Cozy Up with a Good Book - Find a SPACE and Read! Flashlight Reading! How do you read in space without a light? Use flashlights of course! Expedition 64 Story Time from Space, Willow the Water Bear What's Your Favorite Book Wednesday?

Thursday, January 27 th	 STEAM: Study constellationsthen create oneusing marshmallow and toothpicks/black construction paper and chalk or white crayon Leadership team will read aloud a chapter from Flat Stanley's Stanley in Space on the morning show Admin will read pages from If You Decided to Go To the Moon on the morning show. Students bring a book they are currently reading and share their book with a partner. Quick Write: How would you describe an alien who had never heard of it before? Parent Literacy Night Launch into Literacy with a Friend: Students will get to read with a friend from their classroom during a designated time. Launch into Literacy through the World of the Sea – dress as a pirate, mermaid, or sea creatures Students draw/write to describe the setting or place they "visited" while reading or listening to a story.
Friday, January 28 th	 Land into the Reading Space Center to return your completed passport and receive a "Rocketing Reading Reward" SRO will read a space related book for classroom teachers to play during the school day Astronaut graduation and celebration day – Principal and literacy coach will announce winners of the writing prompt. What would you pack if you were an astronaut? What would you do if you spotted an alien at school? Vocabulary Word Dress Up Day – teachers and students will dress up as a vocabulary word or idiom. Dress in the theme of a job you would like to have, on the morning show admin team will discuss different settings represented by the various careers explored throughout the week. Biographical dress up day – Choose a setting (time or place) and dress up as an influential or famous person from history. Refer to autobiographies or biographies for inspiration.