Florida Education & Training Placement Information Program (FETPIP)
Annual Outcomes Report Overview

The Annual Outcomes Report (AOR) provides an overview of the status of former students and program participants within the selected category. The report highlights what participants are doing after completing or leaving an educational program, focusing on key outcome measures such as employment, earnings, and continuing education. Collectively, these sections provide valuable insight into participant outcomes and the effectiveness of Florida's education and workforce training programs.

The Outcome Summary section provides a four-year overview of the post-exit status of former students and program participants within the selected category. It highlights key outcome measures, offering a snapshot of participant outcomes following program completion or exit.

The Employment Outcomes section provides employment status information for individuals, within the selected category, who were not enrolled in an educational program and entered the workforce after completing or exiting their program. This section evaluates employment-related outcomes and supports comparisons across categories, offering valuable insight into the extent to which participants successfully transition into and engage in the workforce.

The Continuing Education by Sector section examines whether individuals within the selected category continued their education within a specific educational sector following program completion or exit. Rather than focusing on employment outcomes, this section highlights participants who pursued additional education and identifies the sectors in which they enrolled. By supporting comparisons across educational sectors, this information provides valuable insight into participants' educational pathways, progression, and post-program outcomes.

The Florida Earning Levels section examines the earnings of individuals who were employed in Florida after completing or leaving a program and were not enrolled in continuing education. This section provides insight into the economic outcomes associated with Florida's education and workforce training programs by evaluating the earnings of participants who transitioned directly into the workforce. The information presented helps assess earning potential, measure program effectiveness, and support comparisons across participant categories and cohort years.

The Continuing Education by Institution section identifies the top colleges, universities, and other postsecondary institutions where students continued their education after completing or leaving a program. Based on the selected category, this section provides valuable insight into students' educational pathways and post-program outcomes by highlighting the institutions most frequently attended following program participation.

The Longitudinal Analysis section examines multi-year trends in employment, earnings, and continuing education outcomes following program completion or exit. By comparing results across cohorts, this section provides a long-term perspective on participant success within the selected category. The analysis helps stakeholders identify emerging trends, assess the effectiveness of educational and workforce initiatives, and make data-informed decisions to strengthen student achievement and workforce outcomes throughout Florida.
